Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the cause of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

A PRIZE Charade.

The first three who solve this charade will be presented with a Webster Unabridged dictionary, the contest is open for everyone. All answers must be in writing and addressed to

A. N. Harrison "THE FAMOUS,"
BRENNHAM, - - TEXAS

No two prizes will be given to one family. This contest will remain open until the 15th day of August, when the answer will appear in The Brenham Banner with the key for solving it.

1 My First as you can plainly see;
Half of an instrument must be.

2 My second I will simply state,
Is only to accumulate.

3 My third is used in every town,
And is a great convenience found.

4 My fourth to do will take my third,
As you have very often heard.

5 My next never belongs to me,
As you can very easily see.

11 To finish up this little rhyme,
All of the above in the last you'll find.

6 My Sixth is certain kind of ware,
And seen at every county fair.

7 Nearness does this word denote,
Tis used in spelling hat and coat.

8 Names of two presidential nominees
Comes before you guess them please.

9 To become my next Napoleon strived,
And he acquired it before he died.

10 This at Harrison's Famous find,
And there you will be treated kind.

While you are solving the Charade don't lose sight of the fact that in orders to make room for the very large stock we will receive this fall, we will continue to sell our stock at greatly reduced rates.

CLOTHING! CLOTHING!

Our line in this department is larger than ever, and we have the noblest assortment of Mens, Youth, Boys and childrens clothing than was ever laid on a clothing counter. Our Mr. Harrison in his selection of this line was very particular and it would be folly for anyone to buy their clothing until inspecting our immense stock.

A GOOD BUSINESS.

Isn't it more than remarkable? This is the third week since our charade appeared in the Banner with our Grand Clearance Sale, and we are pleased to say that a greater active public interest has been displayed than any of our former advertisements.—we are pleased—The facts about our goods and prices are getting abroad more, and more people finding them out every day. We appreciate the fact, there is sound business wisdom in getting up a grand clearance sale as we have done in selling the goods at a low figure now rather than carry them over and accumulate old stock.

It takes courage to cut the prices so low you say. Sure enough. But nobody is more keenly alive to the great permanent advantages to be gained by giving the people Genuine Bargains than we are.

And in accordance with that fact the prices of our goods go Down, Down to the lowest notch they have ever reached in the history of Brenham's great bargain sale.

Read the story in the figures that follow, and then ask yourself if you ever knew such goods to be so cheap. Read. Read. Read.
